ANATOMY

(of a Hornet)

Alameda High School is one of the most diverse schools in America, with a plethora of students from nearly every race, ethnicity, background, country, and religion. Of the students attending Alameda High, about 5% are Pacific-Islander, 6% are Multi-racial, 6% are Black, 9% are Hispanic, 34% are Asian, and 37% are White. This broad mix of people makes an ever-lasting impression on all of our lives, enabling us to break through the barriers of stereotypes and inspiring in us a deeper understanding of what it means to be a "Hornet."

UNDER THE SUNLIGHT

SUMMER

Waiting for the clock to strike 2:55 PM, students start packing, waiting impatiently to start their summer vaction. The bell rings. Students run out of their sixth period class, ready to start their months of summer fun. Some travel outside of the country, some swim in the blue waters of Hawaii, and there are always those who linger around the house and spend most of their time making up the sleep that they missed during the school year. No matter what, AHS students found their fun this past summer in all that they did.

Lisa Bryant, Jenny O'Neil, and Kara Jeffords relax at a cabin in Tahoe.

Matthew Lee tries to push the Leaning Tower of Pisa back to its proper position.

Alan and Lily Ng walk the long Great Wall of China.

Terrie Paul stands tall with Lady Liberty.

Loving Erica Kendall meets her new friend in Guadala, Mexico on her youth mission trip.

DRESSING UP MUSIC

FASHIONS & PASSIONS

Fashions & Passions

The various styles at Alameda High range from a preppy Abercrombie and Fitch look, to a spike and leather Punk rock look. Certain styles have been influenced by such musical acts as Slayer, Rancid, Mariah Carey and Eminem. Students listen to all types of music including: rock, rap, house music, punk rock, alternative, hip-hop and rave music. Some of these bands include : Linkin Park, Jay-Z, Blink-182, Nelly and Ludacris. When a student like an artist they copy their style. They get similar shoes, jewelry, clothes, tattoos and piercings. They emulate their idol's style and add in their own personal style to match it. Music is one of the most important parts of a student's life at Alameda High whether it helps them do homework or sleep at night. Our fashions are deeply influenced by our passions.

"What can I say, I like music!!!" Mr. Lamb

"I like 60's pop all the way to ghetto rap!" Mia Croft.

"We like to listen to 94.9!" Julie Ann Del Rusario & Margerie Hoang

"I listen to modern rock like Linkin Park and Tool." Officer Lance

Josh Foster is busting out a solo on his guitar. Photo by Paul Bothwell.

> "I believe today's music doesn't offer a lot, it's simple poppy songs that people only see on TRL. I believe music should offer the listener more, it should come from the gut and the heart and be felt throughout the entire body."

What music do you listen to?

Pantera, Slayer and Rancid- Randy Avalos

What do you picture when you hear the word diversity? Defined, diversity is a point in which things differ, but applied to our everyday life, it becomes much more than just a word. America is the most diverse nation in our world. California is the most diverse state in the nation. As American, Californians and as students at AHS, we are constantly surrounded by diversity, making our school interesting and giving us all a sense of each other's culture. This year, the Acorn is dedicated to dissecting our school, our student body, and exploring the notions of race, gender, class rank and teachers vs. students. We do this in an effort to heighten our awareness. In the words of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., we wish to know one another by the "content of our character" and not by " the color of our skin." Alameda High is filled with diversity and that's what makes our school so interesting. Through out these past few years, Alameda High School has increasingly became more diverse It's uplifting to see how different races come together despite the different generalizations that are made against them. Even though stereotypes and diversity are not usualy topics teens discuss daily, when it's brought to their attention many interesting comments are made.

There are many stereotypes not only about races but also about students, teachers and how they're different. In the charts below it shows how students and teachers are alike, when it comes to things thought about inside and outside of school.

Teachers	Students
1) Outdoors/vacation/ weekends	1) Friends
2) School	2) Guy's & girl's
3) Friends	3) School
4) Family	4) Sports
5) Grading papers	5) Future

How do you deal with stereotypes you hear coming from students?

"I ask them why they said it and do they understand what it means."

-Mr. Caziarc

"Tell the person that's inappropriate behavior and it can not be used in my class."

-Mr. Rodd

How do you feel about stereotypes made about your race?

"They're not true, Because I'm Mexican/American and I'm totally white washed."

-Senior Nina Quintero

"I feel that the stereotypes made about my race are completly false because I'm mixed."

-French proverb

After searching far and wide, we found a few brave hornets willing to expose their feelings to their special someone. They jumped at the chance to get close with that someone and pose for a picture. Do you have a secret crush burning to get out? Is there a special girl that grabs your attention every time she walks by? What about that one guy that makes you daze off in math class? Well hornets, it's time to be brave! Let your crushes know how you feel. You may just end up one of our many lovebirds. These couples have strong relationships and are proud to show their true feelings.

It is truly a gift when a person is blessed with a talent. An achievement should be recognized when a person is enthusiastic enough to excel in a hobbie. Alameda High School is filled with people of various talents, who sing, skateboard, dance, horseback ride and practice other fascinating hobbies. When a person finds anything they are interested in and spends all of their time doing it, it then becomes a person's passion.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Community service has always been a requirement to graduate from Alameda High School but some students take it upon themselves to exceed the requirement of twenty hours in order to help out our community. Students volunteer at many places such as the Red Cross, Alameda Hospital, nursing homes, Boys and Girls Club and other places. Helping out our community may fulfill the desire for some who want to feel like they made a difference in someone's life. It gives students a sense of accomplishment and a feeling that they have done something good for someone else.

Kim Brocks, Freshman helps out elderly folks by working in their yards.

School has always been and should always be a student's first priority yet we also have outside lives. Besides extracurricular activities, sports and spending time with family and friends, some students find time for a job. There are many reasons why students would want to work for extra money, to occupy their time, or to save up for things like a car, college or future plans. Jobs also provide students with a sense of responsibility and many skills they will be able to use in their lifetimes.

- Devin Donaldson, Freshmen

I didn't know what to be this year, but I have this costume that I wear for work at a Renaisance Fair. So I decided to wear this for Halloween.

- Karen Baker Senior

Halloween is the only day of the year when you can safely be something that you are not. The day when every little girl can be a princess for a day and strapping young males can become devilish and daring. A day full of sweets and crazy costumes, Halloween brings back childhood memories. Some of us have not yet gotten past that stage and so they humor us by wearing creative costumes to school complete with memorable make-up, magic wands, and monster masks. Filled with fun, Halloween is a holiday that some of us just never outgrow.

Three lovely hornets stop to pose for a Halloween picture.

Beware of this super hero, its the Sophomore Erin Russell, the Tomb Raider look alike, in her leather jacket and super cool black sunglasses.

Senior, Annie Tran, wanted to wear a pair of pretty angel wings this Halloween. She flies around the campus like the angel that she is.

Day of the Living Dead

Royalty On The Field

Once upon a time on the far off island of Alameda there lived a sleeping beauty named Alicia Morrow. Alicia was born to a hard-working, middle-class family in the village just outside of the island. She was a shy and quiet young lady and never asked for much. Alicia often dreamed of becoming a princess as she watched the sunset behind the castle gates.

One starlit evening, the king announced to his people from his balcony that he and the queen were abdicating their royal positions. The time had come for a new couple to tend to the kingdom. Invitations from the castle were sent to every door in search of a young, noble king and a kind-hearted queen.

Commoners from all across the land came in their most enchanting gowns and finely tailored suits in the hopes of being crowned the next king and queen of Alameda.

Alicia decided to accept the king and queen's gracious invitation and attend the crowning secretly hoping that she would be the chosen one. Meanwhile, Alicia prepared for the possibility of becoming a princess.

Alicia and her loyal friend, Marissa Brown left for the castle in their beautiful chariot.

Marissa was dubbed the queen of Alameda. Although Alicia was not crowned, she still fullfilled her dream of becoming a part of the magical kingdom. And they all lived happily ever after.

The End

For the entertainment of the new king and queen, a joust was held. This was no ordinary battle, for it took courage, skill, and strength. The opponents were the Richmond Oilers. They were prepared to fight our very own noble Alameda Hornets. Both teams took position to fight in an all-out battle to victory.

Hike was yelled and Martin Puckett takes charge of the ball.

Brian Brooks made a mad dash to the touchdown line.

Run! Tavis Vee, run!

Mark Gillman flashed a winning smile after the game.

Tom Gay was pushed, tackled, and beaten, but never gave up hope.

And Finally Victory! The Alameda Hornets have triumphed over the barbaric Richmond Oilers. With the final score of Hornets 42, Oilers 12, we are sure the Oilers felt the sting of a hornet and next time they will think twice about entering a hornet's hive.

Get Your Groove On

Dances

1. Tony O'Toole and Connie Wong get cuddly as they wait in line to take their classy portraits.

5. Three hornets take a break and ponder who their next victims will be for the Ladies' Choice.

2. Adam Yamauchi protects his mystery partner from the flash of the camera.

3. The lucky Keri Rosen cha chas with both Jon Villegas and Peter Lim.

4. Football boy Matt Sherman holds Jennifer Vu as she gazes dreamily into the crowd.

6. Nina Quintero and her date prepare to rock out in their matching "penguin suits"

7. Casey Nunes and Daniel Arellano get this party started as the music blasts through the room.

8. Sorry ladies, Tom Bevilacqua seems quite taken with Molly Jacobs and her backless dress

Your Opinion: Why Don't People Go To Dances?

"The music is weak and no one ever dances." - Cynthia Kwong

"Dances lack the cultural diversity that I seek in a woman." -Peter Lim

Carmen Johnson & Lily Ng

Your Opinion: What do you do on Friday nights?

"Go out... chill!" -Peter Chung

"I will either go out with my friends or sleep." -Alex Lim

As the bass line echoes throughout the decorated hall, the decked out Hornets, sway, dip and get downright funky to the beat. Glamorous, glitzy and gorgeous, school dances are never a disappointment. Students at Alameda High go all out in sparkles and sweat to show off their superfly dance grooves.

1. Erin Hill and her friend dance throughout the night without their heels on.

2. Gabbie Burt happily waits in line for her pictures to be taken.

3. Matt Demonte is happy that Maggie Mirault agreed to dance with him.

4. Lady Hornets get their groove on at the first dance.

5. Chris Vee embraces his mysterious date for the night.

6. Jon Villegas, Peter Lim and Michaela Yee show off their fly moves.

"This was the best Mock Congress ever. It gets better every year, but next year's class is going to have a hard time living up to this year's standards."

1. Brian Huges & Jennifer Bleicher of the Senate lobby their bill to ban oil drilling in Alaska.

2. Senate Whips Derek Argueta & Andy Lam take a well deserved breather.

3. Ian Smith does his best impression of Nixon while fillabusting in the Senate

4. Jaime Garza of the House encourages votes to support prison education

5. Ryan Norris reads from the Communist book of Marxism to support his arguement.

Siltanen

"The event went very well. It was a student driven act and individual personalities affected the outcome of the day. The structure of Mock Congress is very sound, so not much would have to be changed."

Members of the House and Senate gather in Kofman Auditorium on the morning of February 14th to lend their ears to wise words of "President Shrub" concerning the affairs of Enron and the state on terrorism. With intellectual comments on "strategery" and the "Tally Ban," we were all guaranteed on our safety as a country.

Bills were heatedly debated in the House of Representatives while fillabusting went on in the Senate. Gavels were pounded and demands for recounts were shouted. Whispers of impeachment floated in the air. From this expereince, Seniors learned that government is not a simple process and that many variables factor into making decisions. All in all, the day was an adventure that opened our eyes to issues that directly affected us. Congress ajourned.

Lily Ng & Michaela Yee

Below: Nolan Tsuchiya & Maqsood Rafiqzada applaud in approval of the vote's outcome.

Below: Senator Sarra Bradford listens intently and takes notes on each bill to complete the Mock Congress matrix.

After weeks of preparation the 40 plus talent roster hit the stage, such acts as Often Last and The Guilty Bystanders participated.Hands clapped after every dancer, singer and band showcased their talents. New this year was the Night Talent show, featuring 13 acts and two hours of the best entertainment Alameda High School has ever seen. With a heavy influence of punk rock and hip hop in this years show, everyone should be amused. The 2002 Talent show has proved that it is the best show we have seen in years.

"We were asked to do our act last minute and we made it up during 5th period yesterday! " -Janae Richmond

Reflections...

Graduating Class of 2002

At last! After four years together of working hard and hardly working, we seniors will all be going our separate ways. Throughout this impressive journey, we have strengthened old friendships and formed new ones. From them, we have all learned and taught each other about toleranc and the desire for peace and the acceptance we are all capable of giving from within. We have uncovered our goals, our shortcomings, our strengths and most of all, the drive to be ourselves. In high school, we have developed individuality and who we hope to be in the quickly approaching future.

Carmen Johnson
Marissa Brown

In order to appreciate how far we have ultimately traveled, we must reflect on the past years and recall the support we have received from family and teachers; the selfless people who have given us so much knowledge and helped shape us to become as we are today. Remember the force of those that have guided us and have shed some light on our path to self-discovery. Cherish the memories of those we will never forget. Most of all, congratulate ourselves, for ultimately, it has been our own inner ambition that has brought us this far, and it will be ourselves that will push us much farther from this point on. Know where you are going to.

Thank each other for making this the best experience it could have possibly been. Realize that we all share the same beginning and remember this when you have reached the end. We have worked our way to the top and after all the years of labor we have endured, realize this: we deserve it. Realize that we have reached the best place yet, and life only gets better. After all, what would Alameda High School be without . . .

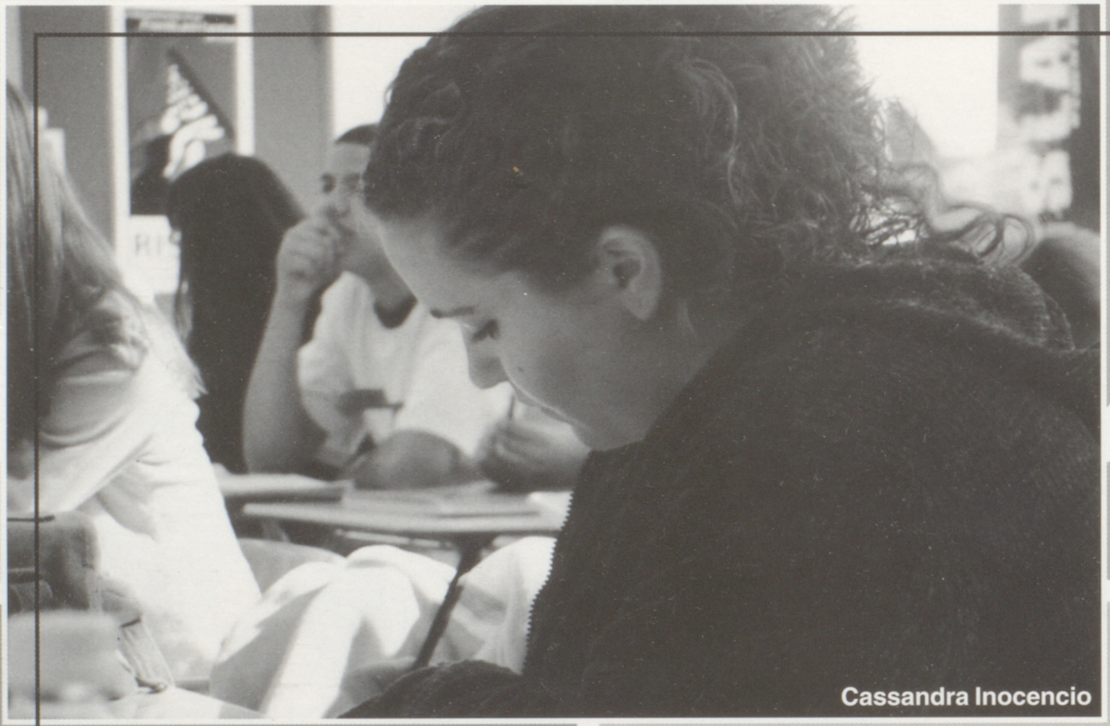
In the Spotlight..



Cassandra Inocencio

Soon the tassels will be shifted from the left to the right and the graduating class of 2002 will leave Alameda High and their legacy behind. From Senior Banquet to the Senior Prom, much of the upper class activities have left seniors scraping for cash. However, being a Senior means much more than Grad Night and trips to Cancun, Mexico. It's the memories, the regrets, the opportunities, the risks, the laughters, and the tears.

This is our time capsule. Here we mark the beginning of our lives and our journey to discover our full potential and talents. No longer will we be bothered by trivial tribulations; instead we stand against the real world and its test of survival. We've made it this far, let's meet again at the end.

If I were valedictorian...

David McGraw-Cook

"Hi class of 2002. I wish you luck in your life after high school and hope you get everything that is coming to you. Good luck and good bye."

Tuyen Phi

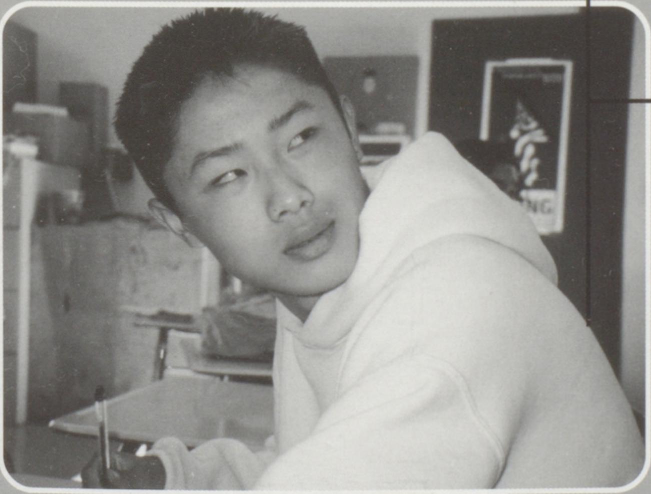
Wan Choi



Kurt Lu

"It was nice being a student here, I will forever remember sleeping in class. Well, good luck to all... Kurt Lu? Valedictorian? What has the world come to?"

"I am the smartest person in here and THAT'S why I'm up here. I'm going to be rich because I studied instead of partying. So now when I walk out of here I'm going to work and party with real successful people... NOT LOSERS. Thanx to me.

And you!"

Rosa Castillo

"This moment..."

Daniel Arellano

"This moment
this now
transcends all notions of life
It's not about Age or classification
or sexual preference
It's about beating back in the ephemeral river of time
re-living tomorrow
and living now today
Out with the gusty winds
extinguishing our candles!
Out with yesterday's woes!
Today I live
because now lasts forever."

Junior Mugs

With one more year remaining, the Juniors of Alameda High have accomplished many feats in their high school careers. The trials and tribulations they have endured will help prepare them for the years to come. The Juniors have come face to face with new challenges and obstacles, giving them the opportunity to explore their intellectual and social capabilities. With the upper-classmen departing shortly, Juniors open their eyes to a world of new possibilities, anxiously awaiting the arrival of their final year of high school.

The Sophomore Slump

Sophomore Mugs

Throughout an intense year of mixed emotions and hard work, the Sophomore class of two thousand and four still holds strong. Despite the high expectations and large amounts of pressure from our surroundings, we remain intact in setting and achieving our goals. Breaking between the barriers and balancing both social and academic life, we learned the importance of responsibility, decision-making, and the results of certain actions. As the time rapidly approaches for the Sophomore to climb a rung higher on the class ladder, they will take with them everything learned during the first two years at Alameda High. Throughout our transition from Sophomores to Juniors, we will tackle and learned the curved roads and unseen milestones of our young adult lives. One thing will always remain safely in our hearts: the memories shared, both of joy and sorrow. The knowledge and confidence we gained during the past two years will bring us to great heights, in both education and the real world.

A Fishbowl of Freshmen

Freshmen Mugs

Buzzing through the hectic hallways, the newest arrivals to the hive greet the old lions, beavers, cougars, and new faces with warm smiles. Combined to form the new hornet class of '05, they brought diversity, a needed football team, and confident people to the hornet community. At the end of the year, they proved themselves to be triumphant. With three more years remaining until they graduate as class of '05, the new hornets work hard to create a strong and solid ground for the upcoming years.

Top: Angela Hernandez and Maile Smith work extremely hard in math class.

Top: Daniel White tries to open his crushes locker to leave an annonymous love letter. Right: "Hey, how you doin'?" greets Chase Currier during class. Bottom: "Who me?" asks Jesus Angulo walking through the halls.

Top: Daniel Gaurdado calculates how much longer until lunch.

Top: To the untrained eye Matthew Sandy appears to be working hard, but is he? Right: With a hectic day ahead of him, Ronald Pangilinan keeps his cool while he works. Bottom: Jeff Nickaloff gives a mysterious look at the camera as he walks to class.

Senior Life Skills

Laughing and smiling, the senior life students here at Alameda High are constantly expressing their joy and happiness. Being able to listen to music, dance freely and cook delectable, healthy dishes help create a comfortable atmosphere where they can explore and express their inner strengths and talents. Not only is the classroom environment incredibly enjoyable, but it is also a place where they can learn, develop, and practice every day skills. Through constant encouragement and perserverance, these astoundingly motivated groups of students gradually develop the strengths and abilities to be independent, communicative, and social. Just like a family, they join together to create a community of strength, unity, and support.

Our Guiding Stars

staff and faculty mugs

The committed and encouraging Alameda High faculty and staff make our school comfortable and welcoming. As baby hornets, we landed at this school somewhat lost and confused, but they have always assisted and guided us through our times of suffering and strife. As we mature from baby bees to full-grown hornets, we will sparkle and shimmer with immeasurable strength and confidene. As the time arrives for us to spread our wings and expand our knowledge, their everlasting compassion and support will linger on in our minds, and the positive impact we gained from their guidance will stay with each one of us, now, forever, and always.

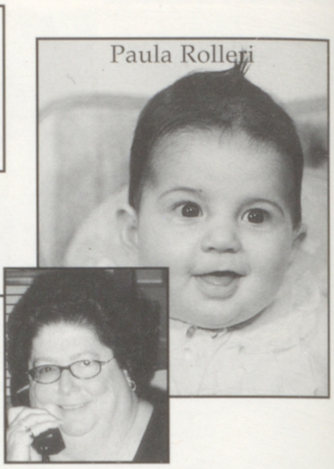
The Way We Were

Staff Now and Then

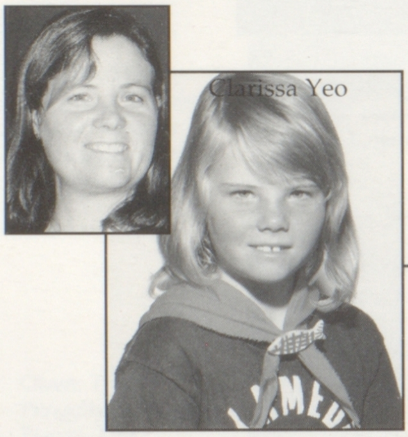
Joseph Simiele

"Running with my friend away from these two kids that were beaming us in the back with rocks and crab apples. Then we found the most viscious looking pipes and chased them away, claiming victory."



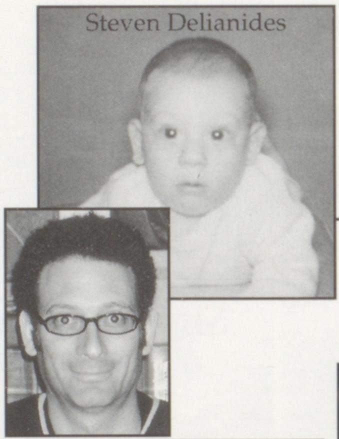
Paula Rolleri

"I attended a private, all girls boarding school. Although I had missed my family dearly, my playmates and classmates became a special part of my life that I will always treasure."



Clarissa Yeo

"I remember playing in the hills of Livermore with my friends and family, where we swam in the clean, clear lakes and streams during our camping trips, and hiked to the top of hills and put on presentations for family night."

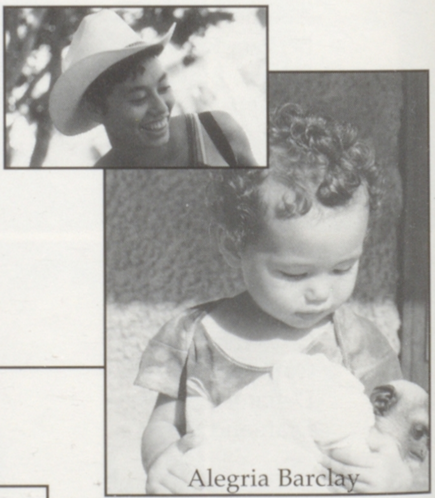


Steven Delianides

"I remember walking in the clear, crisp autumn nights with piles and piles of leaves everywhere. During the summer days, I would eat popsicles while sitting by the lake waiting patiently to fish."

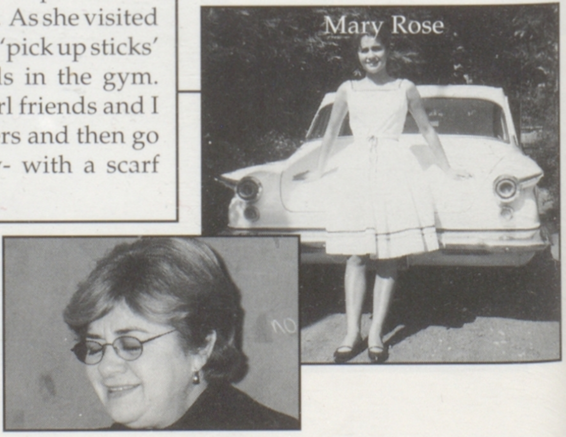
Mark Martin

"My fondest memories as a child were of eating white coconut cake on Sundays with my grandmother, and also card board sliding on dry grass in the Marin Hills."



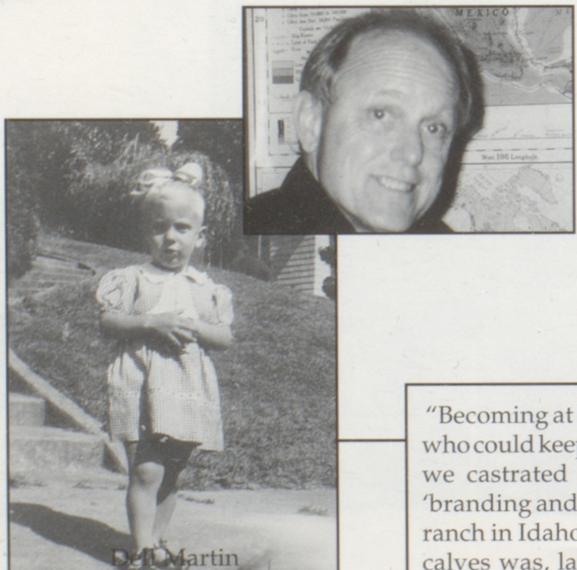
Alegria Barclay

"I remember playing with my brother in our gigantic tree house. We strung up garden hoses to act as hanging vines and would go swinging from tree to tree far into the night."



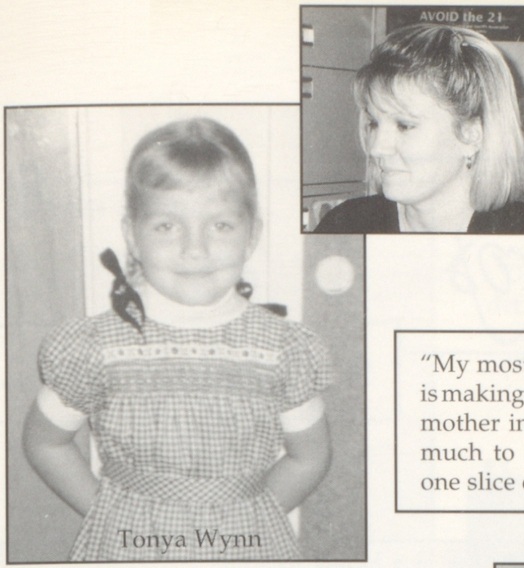
Mary Rose

"In elementary school, I loved open house. I used to go with my mother. As she visited my classroom, I used to play 'pick up sticks' and 'jacks' with my friends in the gym. While in high school, my girl friends and I used to put our hair in rollers and then go shopping all day Saturday- with a scarf over the rollers!"



Del Martin

"Becoming at seven years old, the 'big guy' who could keep sharp the knives with which we castrated the little bullcalves during 'branding and cutting' days on my family's ranch in Idaho. The treatment given to the calves was, later, during my adolescence, held to me as a very probable consequence of my misbehaviors."



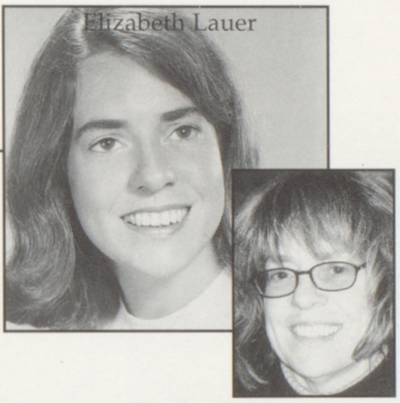
Tonya Wynn

"When I was little, my dad was in the Navy, where he was gone and away at sea for six to nine month periods. My family would create and design paper chains that we hung in our home, and we would remove one each day for the countdown of his return. When we had only one paper chain remaining, we would wait patiently by the door to warmly greet his return."

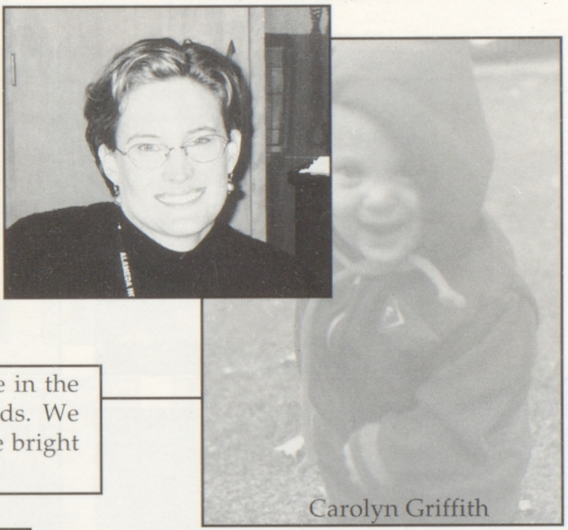
Carmel Zimmerman

"My most cherished childhood memory is making cinnamon toast with my grandmother in her kitchen. I would give so much to returnto that kitchen to make one slice of toast with her again."

"My favorite memory was when I stayed in my aunt's cabin in North Minnesota. In the winter, we would roast marshmallows in the open fire and ice skate in the pond, and in the summer, we would take long boat rides in the lake."

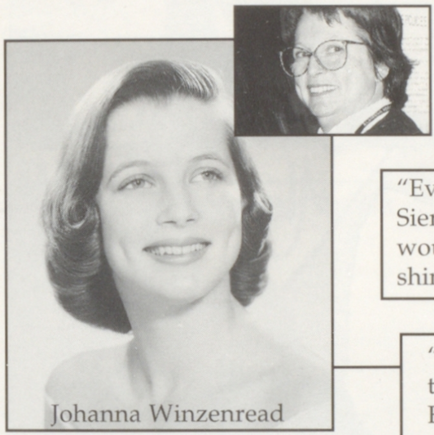


Elizabeth Lauer



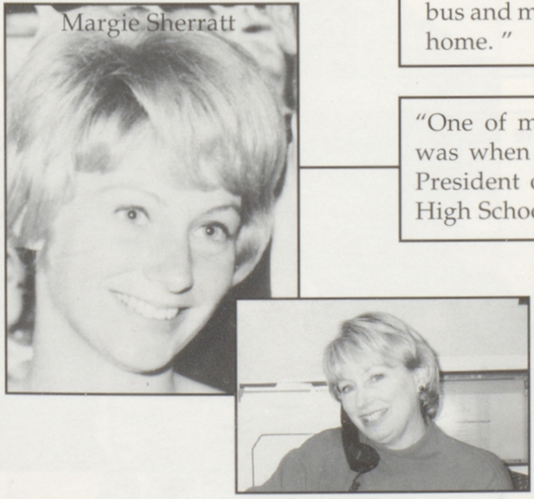
Carolyn Griffith

"Every year, we would go to Huntington Lake in the Sierra Mountains and meet up with family friends. We would cook over the open fire, sleep under the bright shining stars and explore nature."



Johanna Winzenread

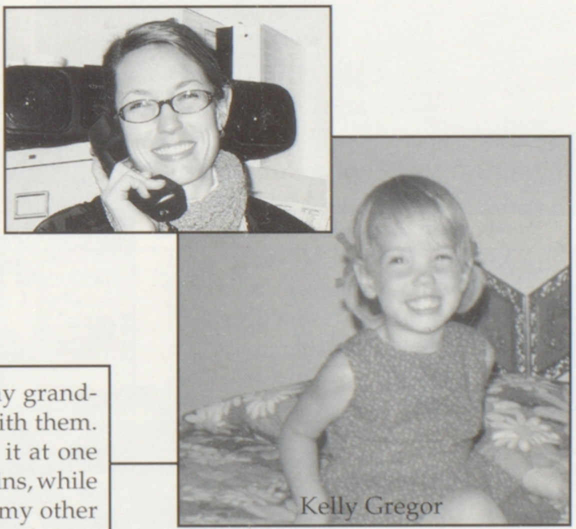
"My memory of school is riding a school bus two miles to my Georgia elementary school. Every morning, my bus driver would quiz us on our spelling words, and once he stopped the bus and made some unruly eight graders walk home."



Margie Sherratt

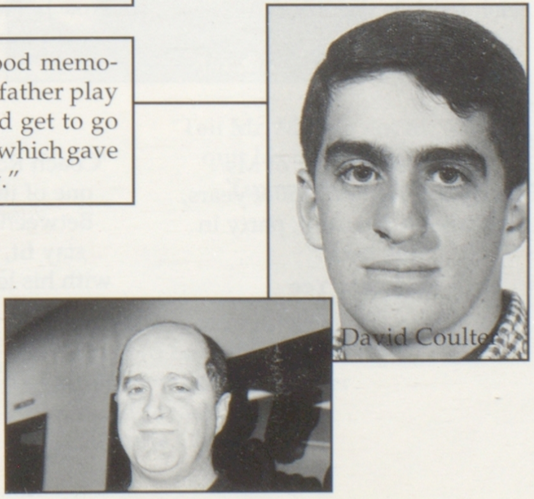
"One of my favorite high school memories was when I learned that I was elected Vice President of the Student Body for Alameda High School."

"Since I grew up near both sets of my grandparents, I spent quite a lot of time with them. On Christmas Eves', I would spend it at one grandparent's house with all my cousins, while during the summer, I would stay in my other grandparents' house and take care of their garden."

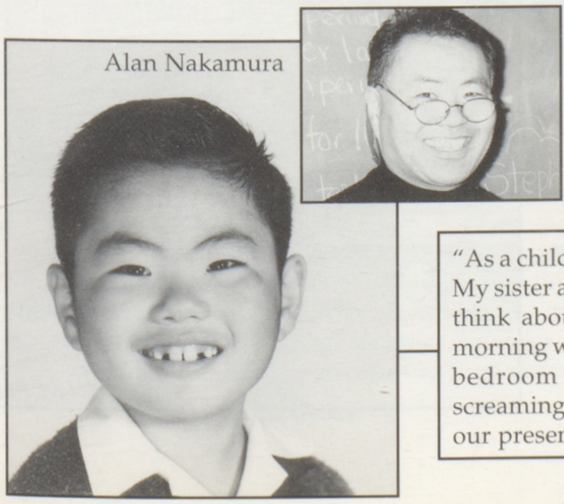


Kelly Gregor

"One of my favorite childhood memories was of going to hear my father play music. Occasionally, I would get to go hear him play professionally, which gave me a feeling of pride and joy."



David Coulte



Alan Nakamura

"As a child, I had always loved Christmas. My sister and I would stay up all night and think about our presents until the early morning where we raced to to our parents' bedroom and jumped into their bed, screaming loudly until they took us to open our presents."

Susan Chung

Cream Of The Crop

They are the familiar faces around campus that enforce those important rules we must abide by, but there is another side to them. Ms. Sherrat, Mr. McPhetridge and and Mr. Rawlins are here for us, the students, to make sure our days here at Alameda High School are as wonderful and productive as possible. Who can forget the encouraging morning statements by Mr. McPhetridge as you hurry down the hallway not to be late for first period? Or the friendly grin of Mr. Rawlins at the Friday night football games to passing students. And, of course the way Ms. Sherrat can inspire students and teachers in the hallways before class. These are the outstanding individuals who make it their job to make our lives better.

"We write too many essays and vocab tests are so easy that I don't even need to study for it."
Will Collins

"I love reading Shakespeare. . . it is so romantic . . ."
Kriste Li

Every year, English teachers stress the importance of the English language. We read books that teach us to be a better person, books like: Of Mice and Men, To Kill a Mocking Bird, Catcher in the Rye, and Julius Caesar. After analyzing these novels, we are taught to evaluate them through a series of essays. Through these and other written documents, grammer is taught and the common mistakes like subject/verb agreement are caught. The head of the English department, Ms. Davis-Martin, describes English teachers through "allusions to Tennyson's poem Ulysses: I want our students 'to follow knowledge like a sinking star;' we want to introduce them to 'cities of men/ And manners, climates, councils, governments;' we want to enable them to pursue 'the useful and the good.' We English teachers are like Ulysses' men: 'One equal temper of heroic hearts,/ Made weak by [reading essays], but strong in will/ To strive, to seek, to teach, and not to yield!'"

History is important to know and understand. It teaches students about the past and problems that the world once faced. Every student at Alameda High School has to complete three years of Social Sciences: one year of U.S. History, Modern World History, & Government. The classes available here at Alameda High are taught by an amazing faculty. The history department offers many special activities for the students to experience. Sophomore year, the students gather together in Kofman Auditorium to learn about the tragedies of WWII. They take a day out of regular class work to watch Schindler's List, and to hear the first hand experiences of people who survived the concentration camps. The Seniors, participate in Mock Congress. They play the roles of congress men and women, and write their own bills to be passed. After we surveyed the senior class, we found out that 77% of seniors said that Mock Congress helped them understand how our country works.

Alameda High offers its students a wide variety of Math and Science courses. Two years of math are required to graduate, as well as two years of science. There are many elective classes available after the requirements have been completed, such as: Physiology, Astronomy, Statistics and Calculus. These electives can add to a better college career and offer a wider knowledge of interesting subjects. Alameda High has an exellent math and science department. It is run by a teriffic staff of teachers who try to make learning fun for their classes. A poll of 50 students suggests that the majority dislike math and science, but that it's helpful in the long-run.

Physical Education

" P.E. is tiring sometimes, but it is a good way to get excercise."- Kiri Jones, freshman

"I like swimming because we don't have to run."- Andrea Lodigiani, freshman

Physical Education is an efficient way for students at Alameda High School to get excercise. It is a requirement to take physical education for two years in order to graduate from Alameda High. The class is filled with activities such as basketball, swimming, handball, softball, bowling and the ever so popular running exercises. The locker rooms can be a whole different aspect to the physical education class. The girls go into the locker room afterwards and usually put on make-up and spread the latest gossip amongst each other. The boys spend there locker room bonding time by twirling up shirts and whipping each other with them as well as shoving each other into lockers. Wait, how could we forget that they gossip too!? Physical education has it's ups and downs, but overall it is a good class and most students reflect fondly on their P.E. years here at Alameda High.

Jujitsu is a Japanese martial art using holds, throws, and stunning blows to disable or subdue an opponent as described by the Webster dictionary. Who knew that Alameda High offered such a magnificent class? The students who take this class may describe it as an art that takes time and patience to master. This class is offered at here A.H.S. School to open up the variety of extracurricular classes students can take. This class is rumored to be entertaining as well as time-consuming if taken seriously. It is an outstanding way to meet people and to learn something new and helpful. So if you are looking for a new experience in your life, try out Jujitsu!

" I've enjoyed acting ever since I was little."

Kara Lujan
-Freshmen

Here at Alameda High School, different electives are offered to give students a chance to show off their abilities and to do what they enjoy. Most students choose their electives according to what they're good at, what they're interested in and what catches their attention. The art of acting comes to life in Fred Chacon's drama class. Drama is taught in different levels, ranging from one to three. Many activities take place in drama such as, one act plays, short scenes, monologues and the spring musical. Another elective in the performing arts category is dance, taught by Susan Gill. This class combines African, Modern and Latin styles. These different styles are taught to beginning, intermediate and advanced dancers. These two classes prepare students for their future in college and careers with performing arts.

Art

" Art is an excellent way for students to express their creativity"- Korey Lee, senior

" Art is a good way for me to relax during a busy school day"- Maggie Mirult, junior

Art class can be an enjoyable way for students at Alameda High to express themselves. This class is a few steps up from when students were in Kindergarten, where it was a struggle just to color in the lines. It consists of different techniques of art ranging from sketches, watercolors, painting and other skills. It can be an excellent way for a student to gain recognition. Art is a skill that can come naturally or be acquired over time with practice.

Media Academy

"You get your own computer lab; it's pretty cool."
-Jon Sarro

"Media Academy is hella cool because it combines History and English together and you get the same teacher like Mr. Carman."
-Steve Kettlehut

The Media Academy is adding more students every year. It offers a unique experience where students can have a better chance of bonding with their classmates by sharing two periods a day with the same people. The Media Academy combines English and History together as one course. From Sophomore to Senior year, the students of the Media Academy get to know each other very well. They learn all the general studies offered for English and History, but they get to work on computers and attend special activities. This year, the Media Academy held a Flop-A-Thon, to help raise money for new equipment. It was a class competition held between the different grades, to see who could raise the most money. The Sophomores won the competition, but as a whole, the Media Academy ended up raising almost three thousand dollars to help add to their funds. The Media Academy is a well recomended class and it looks great on college applications.

In our busy hive, there are bees that were born to be leaders. This group of hornets grow up to be in Leadership and ASB. Within leadership, the students split up into little groups, senior class, junior class, sophomore class, and freshman class. Our busy seniors plan all senior events: the senior banquet, senior ball, senior picnic, senior assembly, and graduation. While the junior class works on the junior prom and the sophmore class works on the winter ball. They all work together though and show their school spirit during homecoming! ASB (Associated Student Body), on the other hand, does all the planning and decorations for the special events that happen within this diverse school. Within their committees, they plan spirit days, dances, spirit rallies, make posters, and advertise all of their events. Leadership and ASB work hard to get the job done. They do all this to make every hornet feel comfortable and to make our nest a better environmentfor all.

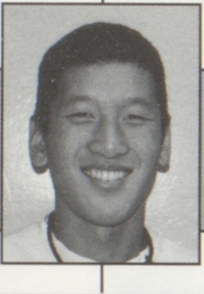
The Inside Scoop

Journalism

Being a journalist means more than just writing. It's reporting the facts for the public. After four years on The Oak Leaf, I have learned what it means to truly be a journalist.
-Soni Khatri



I've been in journalism for all four years and it has been a very positive experience for me.
-Robbie Hild

About every month, the students of Journalism prepare and put out a newspaper called The Oak Leaf. After brainstorming their ideas, the Journalism staff decide the topics for each newspaper. It is read by many people of our community including parents and teachers as well as the student body. They are the voice of the students at Alameda High. The newspaper covers many school-wide events from Homecoming week to the Exit exams. It also includes things outside of school such as movies and music. The newspaper is useful in that it always keeps us in touch with the "what's in" and the "what's out".

"I hate pictures. I hate computers. I definitely hate quotes. Censorship is not my fault. I should get community service for all the hours I put in after school. But the senior section is pretty isn't it?" Michaela Yee

Upon looking at the yearbook staff, one might see thirty students intent on putting only pictures of their friends in the soon to be developed yearbook, yet beneath the shiny surface of what appears to be an easy "A" course, there lies a group of motivated students filled with ambition, capacity, and energy. Yearbook requires long work hours, meticulous planning, attention to detail and a lot of creativity. Despite the time consuming and condensed schedule of the yearbook staff, we manage to design a page, set pictures and captions, interview certain subjects, develop a strong copy and a slew of other tasks within a matter of weeks. Although these tasks add a lot of stress to life at AHS, it is, nevertheless, an entertaining class.

Cross-Country (adj.) Moving or directed across open country.

Imagine running five miles a day five to six days a week, this sounds like torture to you and me but to the Alameda High Cross Country team its considered fun! Warm-ups , work-outs and cool downs are all in a day's work. Cross Country is a sport in which team members put everything they have into their runs, whether it's a two mile practice run or a three mile race. Captain Nic Bell explains this very well "Give it everything you got no matter what! I like to feel as if I have given it everything I can, and if I feel I didn't then it gives me more motivation to do better next time!" Over the two month season runners find out that cross country is a sport that requires determination and heart. But more than all that they need team spirit! They showed this by winning every meet this year. They shed blood, sweat and tears all in the name of fun!

Cheer•lead•ing (n.) a sport which combines sparkling smiles, dazzling stunts, and high quality teamwork.

Three words that decribe the 2001-2002 season of cheerleading are sweat, effort, and superior. In a season that lasts from August 'till Febuary these girls work it! In the beginning of the summer, practices begin putting the new squad together with incoming Freshman and familiar faces. These practices are not just about learning cheers, but to prepare for evaluations at the United Spirit Association. This painstaking process is eventually rewarded by one of the highest marks in the United Spirit Association, which is the "Superior Award." Varsity, Junior Varsity, and the Hornet mascot placed superior in each area from stunting to sidelines. This accomplishment has been rewarded by Alameda High School Cheerleaders for the past three years. This huge accomplishment was rewarded when the cheerleaders were invited to perform at the NFL Pro Bowl in February for the half time show. With sharp and in sync dances, Pom's dedication has shown through their smiles. Cheer's muscle-straining stunts have been a highlight at the Friday night games. Overall, the season has been filled with accomplishment and spirit.

Varsity Football (n.) a sport in which requires adrenaline, courage, and perserverance.

During the hot and long summer of the 2001-2002 football season, the varsity football team of Alameda High trained in the weight room four days a week and ran the Alameda beach. Some players also participated in a passing league, a flag football game against other teams to help teams improve their offensive and defensive plays. Not only did the summer practices make the team stronger and more confident,it also brought them closer together as a team. With this year being their second year with coach Kevin Hennessee they've accomplished many goals as far as unity and staying focused as a team. Their 2001-2002 football season started off very strong, and despite their downfalls, they still remained positive.

On the dirty football field, strong spirits fight for the possession of the ball. This is not a life and death situation but the fast moving game of Junior Varsity football. The 2001-2002 team came back together trying to obtain victory this year. "I'm very pleased with the number and commitment quality of the team this year," said coach Steve Yamasaki. His two best plays called, "Double 2 liz 50 half back hitch double pass" and "Pro-left 50 hidden Z," made them win some of their games. Although they lost a few games, they had the confidence and spirit that make up a good team. They had the strength to play with heart and soul."From that strength they will create empowerment. From their true game they will draw strength."GAME RECOGNIZE GAME!"

Freshman Football (n.) a sport which combines strong spirits, fast moving players and true commitment.

This season the Freshmen football team has been a huge success. With the help of their supporters and fans, they have led Alameda High to spectacular scores and wins. They have done their best in working together and have proved to be a team. In every game, they have won not by points but with heart and inspired teamwork. Putting all their heads and hearts together, they have shown what football is all about. It's a lot of weight on their shoulders to be depended upon by coaches, hornets, families, and friends, but they still manage to maintain a good team and strong school spirit.

Ten•nis (n) tennis is a combination of intense commitment and awesome strength.

This year's women's tennis team has been extraordinary. Practicing on a regular basis has helped them to win all the games and granted them the chance to compete in the North Coast Section. The team also created a sense of family, strength and unity. As Lisa Hathaway says "Tennis takes a lot of dedication and commitment." Not only has their dedication and perserverance allowed for them to grow both mentally and phsically.

This year's men's tennis team has been fantastic. There was more than 20 players on the team this year. All the players showed dedication and commitment by coming to everyday practices. The victories in majority of their games also proved their advance skills and abilities.The players and the coaches worked together as one to make this season the best. More than five players were champions at the ACCAL Tournament. This team will be successful in the years to come.

Water Polo (n): a game of quickness, strength, and endurance.

Water polo requires the coordination of ball handling and swimming abilities are important to keep up with the mobile, fast-paced style of the game. Every morning the players would get up at six o'clock for morning workouts before school. As if that was not enough, the players also have to go to the regular workouts after school. Joining water polo means commitment, even when the water gets icy, agrees Coach Glendenning "From last place to league Champs, I have had the pleasure to coach a team with so much heart. a sport that displays strong intellect, powerful teamwork, and a whole lot of Hornet Pride.

In a sport that has a very small team, unity is oh so very important. This season had a rocky start as the newer teammates attempted to find their niche. As the team began to lose their momentum they looked to each other for support and found it in their team captain Ronald Smith. As he pulled the team together they noticed a new team morale. Towards the end of the Men's Varsity Volleyball season, they began to win. And fly high with Hornet pride.

The 2001 season of Junior Varsity Volleyball started of as a learning experience. The team was lead by their two freshman captains. It was a year of adjusting as a new team. To help them adjust to the new teammates the team stretched and warmed up together as a whole. They would run laps together, and anything possible to build the unity that was a necessity for the team. Their hard work and dedication soon payed off as the team began winning their games and working as a group led by individuals.

"I was really suprised being voted as the captain since I am only a Freshman, so I was nervous, but I am over it now."

Its intriguing how a player can slap the ball even after told to bump it with both hands; especially in a game. No names mentioned.

The most memorable experience would be when our team rallied back to almost win against San Ramon Valley because we focused as a team.

To the untrained eye, badminton may appear as a casual sport, where one stands on the court and occasionally takes a strike at the bypassing birdie. In reality, badminton is an invigorating sport demanding strenuous physical play and strategic wit, requiring long hours of endurance training and increasing physical stamina. Badminton is a delicate, yet robust form of athleticism. During training sessions, not only do badminton players practice agility and rapid reflex, but they also learn to cooperate together as a team to work their full potential necessary to ascend to the top.

During the 2001-2002 season of golf, both new and continuing players sparkled in the field. Their endless efforts and remarkable teamwork brought them to a new level of success. Although their success has not been acknowledged to the fullest, they have proved the nay sayers wrong. Golf is a sport which requires a great deal of correctness of posture, concentration, precision, and accuracy--all of which the team has practiced on a regular basis everyday afterschool, and even in their unconscious state of mind. As the season progresses, each player keeps in mind that it is integrity and will power that wins the game. In the end, their competitiveness and determination will bring home a badge of glory.

"Take me out to the ball game" cheers the crowd at a baseball game. Baseball is one of the oldest and most popular games of all time. There is evidence that people played games involving a stick and a ball since the early days of civilization. Baseball is a competitive game of accuracy, speed, and patience. Played with a hard ball and a bat, two teams of nine players compete for the most runs. The team that scores the highest by the end of the ninth inning wins the game. This year, the team went to Las Vegas for their tournament. They came back with more experience and determination to win over our local teams.

Junior Varsity Softball | Stephanie Powell & Racheal Griffin

Softball(n)- A variation of baseball played on a smaller diamond with a larger, softer ball pitched underhand. These Lady Hornets got game and the spirit for it. Having practice six days a week and pushing themselves to do their hardest, these girls really got ball-playing skills. Softball is truly a sport for the mind and the body. The Lady Hornets were fit and trained with beauty and intelligence on and off the field. Diamonds are these girls' best friends. Softball diamonds that is.

Libby McCleskey gets down in her defensive position and is ready to play some ball.

Left: Winding up the pitch, Laura Yastishak strikes out the opponent. Right: Stephanie Zarifis quickly retrieves the ball and launches it back towards infield.

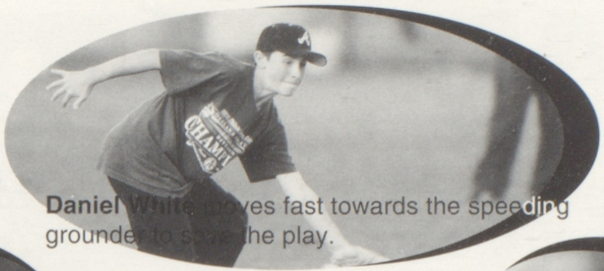
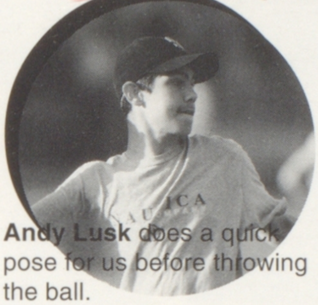
The Junior Varsity team practices everyday, for two hours every week, for three months. Now that's dedication.



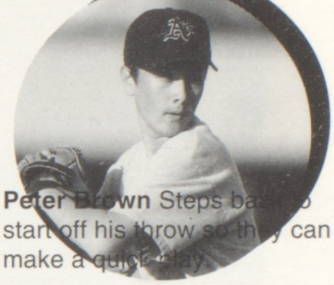
Daniel White moves fast towards the speeding grounder to save the play.

Did you know...

This year the Junior Varsity team can consume up to four bags of sunflower seeds per practice.



Andy Lusk does a quick pose for us before throwing the ball.



Peter Brown Steps back to start off his throw so they can make a quick play.

Running out on to the field, Jamie Tench forgets to grab his glove on the way out.

Pitcher, Jon Wilson sets his arm back as he gets ready to throw the heat.

Kenny Boothby sneaks behind the pitcher on his way to steal second.

Baseball(n)- A game played with a bat and a ball by two opposing teams of nine players, each team playing alternately in the field and at bat. This year's junior varsity baseball team has accomplished a lot with the help of great coaching. The already very skilled players were able to improve their pitching, catching, batting, and throwing. Their teamwork is unexplainable; it seems as if the players have been playing together since they were young. Although it was hard, the guys on the junior varsity team practiced six days a week for two hours. In the end, it was all worth it.

Close Up, true to its name, provides a close up in depth view of government few high school students have yet to experience. It helps students to become active participants in government and shape our nation towards a better future. Students see history and world events come to life on the trips. It is a truly unique way to dive into what makes our country a stronghold on freedom for the world. Students return from the trip determined, educated and enthused about politics, foreign relations, and how they can make a better future for this glorious nation.

Conflict Mediation

The Conflict Mediation Program is designed to make Alameda High a more peaceful school by relieving tensions between people in disputes. Founded three years ago by counselor Elizabeth Lauer, Conflict Mediation is now run by students and has grown to encompass a wide range of members. The meditators are dedicated to the cause and respond to both student and teacher referred conflicts, no matter how minor or major the problem may be.

The Environmental Club devotes its services to the community on the basis of preserving the environment. The club plans to establish and organize a recycling program for the school. This recycling program will recycle all dry waste, including aluminum cans, plastic bottles, glass bottles and paper. With the help of grants and contributions from the community, each classroom and staff rooms will have a recycling bin. Also, the club will try to further beautify the school by planting gardens. The club provides community service opportunities along with tutoring in environmental science.

The International Club welcomes all students looking to broaden their views on the world. Our club is comprised of students from a variety of cultures, backgrounds, and ethnicities, but are united in their desire to give back to their community. Our members aid the community through a number of diverse programs: Mentoring, Community Service, and Tutoring. Through these programs International Club members not only better their community, but find new friends, responsibility, and maturity along the way.

Jujitsu

The Jujitsu Club meets to plan events that promote artistic practices such as the Duel Class tournament where both Jujitsu classes are united in a tournament with Professor Wally Fay as the guest judge. Members are also engaged in planning other trips such as the trip to Professor David Fairdeild's Dojo in the Senda Mountains and the USIF Sanctional Judo Tournament at Alameda High. During spare time the members practice their skills on each other by sparring.

Latinos Unidos

Latinos Unidos is for all people; it's a diverse club. It's for people who want to get closer to the Latino culture. Club members can participate in fundraisers, community service and field trips. Latinos Unidos sponsors events such as Baile folkclorico and Kapuera. Baile folkdorico is a traditional dance and Kapuera is a Brazilian martial arts dance.

LEO

Leadership, experience, opportunities, also known as LEO Club, is dedicated to instilling the virtues of leadership in its members. It is a great place to develop public speaking skills and help the community by doing his/her part. The club officers are constantly on the lookout for those who show the potential to be future leaders. Alameda High School's LEO club is also referred to as CIEL, the slogan, Combining Individual Efforts, LEOs.

Club Odyssey gives a chance for the graduating class to pass on the knowledge that they have acquired during high school. They can teach and guide freshmen and sophomores on their path through high school, leaving behind a little part of themselves to everyone they mentor. At the same time, freshmen and sophomores can receive help towards homework, peer guidance and community service.

EVELYN BINDNER

Evelyn is a Senior at AHS and ha[illegible] Fine Art. This is her first appearance at Altarena, following in her mother's footsteps (...some of you may remember Betty from QUILTERS last Spring and she will be directing MOUSETRAP here next season). However, Evelyn is no stranger to the stage having appeared in ANNIE GET YOUR GUN, AMAHL AND THE NIGHT VISITORS and THE FARNDALE...MURDER MYSTERY, (Jan's first directing venture), all at Masquers Playhouse and JOSEPH AND THE AMAZING TECHNICOLOR DREAMCOAT and WIND IN THE WILLOWS for Pittsburg Community Players. She is a math whiz, an Uno shark, a climber and a speedster on the slopes.

The sky is the limit some people say, and though there's no limits there's always a way

Life is too short from day to day, so reach the sky it's the only way. Limits are high and limits are low, but don't say goodbye just say hello. Go far away or stay where you are, there's always a way to be who you are. The sky is the limit some people say, and though there's no limits there's always a way.

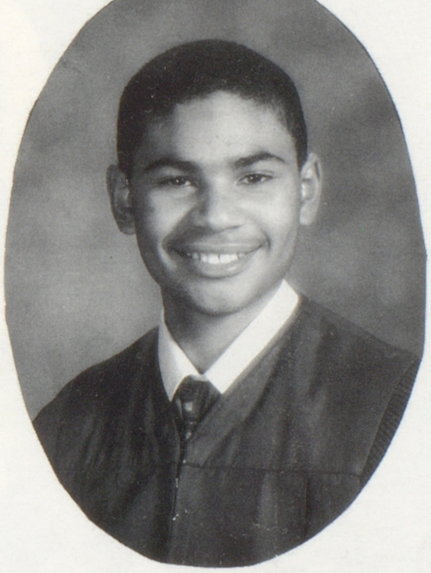
Julian,
It seems like just yesterday that you were graduating from preschool and then the 8th grade; now here you are stepping into a new chapter of life. Remember, the hug and the kiss is always today. Definately!

We are very proud of you and love you very much,
Mom & Dad



My son, keep your father's commands and do not forsake your mother's teaching. Bind them upon your heart forever; fasten them around your neck. When you walk, they will guide you; when you sleep, they will watch over you; when you awake, they will speak to you. For these commands are a lamp, this teaching is a light, and the corrections of discipline are the way to life. Proverbs 6:20-23
